Could your child be at risk of not graduating?

Learn how Michigan changed the education standards (called the Michigan Merit Curriculum) and the graduation requirements. Find out how to determine how many credits your child has now, and how many he (or she) needs to graduate.

We'll explain why your child needs algebra, chemistry, physics and other advanced classes. We'll also warn you about pitfalls to avoid like failing a required course for graduation with no time to make-up the class.

You will leave this forum with a full understanding of how the new graduation requirements work. You will learn how to guide your child in making sound Academic decisions as they move toward high school graduation.
